THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER

at New Orleans is one of the final frontiers of fly-fishing and offers unmatched opportunities for beginners and experts alike. The fishing flats in this delta are huge, almost endless. All this within a short distance from downtown New Orleans. These saltwater bays, bayous and shallow water flats teem with big Redfish.

The shallow water sight-fishing opportunities are incredible and these Reds don't hesitate to take a fly.

Days of seeing 6 to 10 lb fish are common, and it is not uncommon to fish 10 , 20 lbs Redfish.
